

Highland Single Malt Scotch Whisky

'The Real Taste of Malt'

- “remarkably smooth... creamy finish with a very delicate touch of sherry. A lovely, complex, sophisticated malt” Michael Jackson (Whisky Expert), Whisky Magazine
- Glengoyne has won a host of prestigious awards from all around the world including Whisky Magazine ‘Best of the Best’ and Golds and Double Golds at the San Francisco World Spirits Competition and the International Spirits Challenge
- A premium quality single malt whisky which has been produced at the Glengoyne distillery in the Highlands of Scotland since 1833
- ‘The authentic taste of malt whisky untainted by peat smoke’. Unlike most other single malt whiskies Glengoyne dries its malted barley using only warm air as opposed to pungent peat smoke
- This results in a subtle, complex whisky in which all the delicate flavours are freely allowed to express themselves – ‘The real taste of malt’
- Glengoyne is a clear bright, exceptionally smooth malt whisky characterised by hints of oak and apple with a long, clean finish
- Glengoyne is handcrafted at “Scotland’s most beautiful distillery”, situated in a wooded valley close to a small river that flows into Loch Lomond
- The distillery takes its name from ‘Glen Guin’ or Glen of the Wild Geese
- Its southerly position ensures a milder climate that also contributes towards Glengoyne’s smooth and lighter taste
- Glengoyne invests heavily in a very strict wood policy that demands the careful selection of the highest quality Spanish and American oak casks
- The distillation at Glengoyne is the slowest in Scotland. The spirit flows from the stills at half the average rate, this allows the stillman to capture only the very best distillate
- The Glengoyne Highland Single Malt Scotch Whisky – available in a range of ages (10, 12, 17, 21YO, 12YO Cask Strength and Vintage 1972) and sizes (3 litre, 1 litre, 75cl, 70cl, 35cl and 5cl)
- In addition, Glengoyne produces Travel Retail Exclusives and other rare, limited edition specialist whiskies each year.
